

2026-2027 Dual Credit Course Listing

Yellowhead Christian School

YCS is excited to offer Dual Credit courses to our students. Taking these classes allows students to earn credits towards their high school graduation AND post-secondary level credits.

Taking one or more of these courses means that the student will not have to take as many courses while at their post-secondary institution, meaning they will save some money in tuition and possibly speed up their process to earning their diplomas/degrees. Additionally, taking one of these courses is a great introduction to the academic level and type of work required of post-secondary students. Many of these courses will be transferable, so one does not necessarily need to attend the college that is offering one of the listed courses.

If you have any questions, please contact Mr. Colton Black.

OT 112	Reading the Torah	A study of the first five books of the Bible, focusing on the historical, literary, and theological features of these books, as well as establishing a strong grounding in Torah principles in preparation for interpreting the rest of Scripture.
NT 112	Reading the Gospel & Acts	In this course, students are introduced to the story of Jesus Christ and his earliest disciples as told by the four Gospels and the book of Acts. Students will grow in their understanding of who Jesus is as well as in their ability to interpret the Bible by attending to its literary, historical, and theological character.
TH 100	Introduction to Christian Theology	This course introduces students to the biblical, doctrinal, philosophical and historical “big picture” outlines of the Christian faith. The course aims to equip students with the skills to develop a Christian mind by assisting them in constructing a theological foundation for thinking and dealing with life’s most important issues. This course will also enable students to begin to think theologically and to construct a Christian worldview for the edification of the community of faith and to the glory of the almighty God whom we serve.
ST 100	The Christian	You will be challenged toward intentional pursuit of a love

	Life	relationship with God as a faithful discipleship response to His person and work. The course content will explore a Christian spiritual theology and practice, not as a formula or recipe, but rather as a transformational relationship with the triune God in which you have both responsibilities and privileges. The course is designed to stretch beyond a cognitive/intellectual exercise so that you will be encouraged to actively engage in the whole-hearted pursuit of relationship with God, both inside and outside of the classroom. The anticipated result is that you will know God more deeply, relate to Him as one intimately known by Him, and desire to make Him known to others.
HF 111	Thinking and Writing	This course focuses on a critical examination of the many opposing views which will undoubtedly be encountered in the workplace and even in our churches. We are to critically engage with different but relevant viewpoints. Through proper and prayerful argumentation and thorough research, we are able to counter contrary positions using a variety of writing, skills to critically analyze a variety of resources helpful in research, components of a good argument useful in the apologetic task and the mechanics of writing. All assignments will be graded on content, spelling and grammar.
SS 170	Christianity in the 21st Century World	This course describes and analyzes the range and nature of Christian expression around the world. This will be done in three ways: 1) by briefly describing the four main streams of Christianity evident today; 2) by examining the variety of expressions of indigenous Christianity in the various geographical regions of the globe, and major challenges Christians face in each region; and 3) by getting a brief introduction or how Christianity spread from its Hebrew roots in Palestine to becoming a global faith which is known today as World Christianity (Christianity whose agenda is no longer determined by churches in the nations of the West). The underlying question for Christians living in the West is, 'What is our place and role in this recently altered global landscape of Christianity?' This course will offer some possible answers to that question.
IS 140	World Religions	A basic understanding of the beliefs, doctrines, and practices of the major world religions will allow Christians to be more effective in their witness for Christ in today's multicultural world. After a survey of the ideas, philosophy, doctrine, and major practices of the main religions we will discuss how our Gospel witness can be/should be contextualized to people from a particular world religion. We will not include Christianity or Judaism in our study.
BU 110	Introduction to Business Management	This course is intended to introduce and lay a foundation for the rest of our business program. Firstly then, students will develop practical competencies in management with the lens of Scripturally-grounded theology regarding God's view of work and in particular, the work of management.
